Progressive technology may have changed the procedures of banking, but FNBT remains firmly committed to local decisions, community involvement and small-business growth. With $900+ million in assets, this bank is a secure investment for your future career in banking. More than 165 employees make up the First National Bank family coming to work from communities that spread over six counties in central and west central Oklahoma.

Our employees often move from entry-level jobs to administrative positions during their careers. Some began with FNBT more than 40 years ago and have remained to build a legacy within this bank and community. (Our CEO started his career as a teller!)

From our first location opening in 1892 to the current 9 locations, The First National Bank & Trust Co. has always been a great choice as a place to bank but also as a place to build a sound and satisfying career.
